Sundays in the Kasetsart Slum

Ministry type	Children's ministry
Area of impact	Wisdom
Country	Thailand
Approx. date	Every 2 weeks
Report source	Ed Kanti Panjatanasak as told to Susan Steen

Kanti (previously FH Thailand) worked with Robin and Susie over the years. His congregation, Covenant Church located in Bangkok, received wholistic teaching on several occasions. Additionally, Kanti from his work with DNA is able to support and promote their church teams put love into action through seed projects and Disciplines of Love.

A certain group of individuals from his Thai congregation began last year to minister to the slum children in their community. Every two weeks they do a wisdom project with the children. Since the education the children receive at school is not enough, this group decided to supplement the children's knowledge with more learning opportunities that they normally would not receive. The children attend school only during the elementary years, K through 6. The church team alternates teaching English, Thai and Mathematics. This is done in a rotation system every two weeks. The team is encouraged to continue these seed projects when they see how much the children anxiously wait for them to arrive to their community.
